

COVID-19 STATEMENT

The health and well-being of our customers and employees is of the utmost importance to Securelux. While we don't believe there is a need for panic, like many of our local businesses we are taking extra precautions to ensure the safety of our customers and our team during this time.

Below is a list of additional precautions we are taking:

The Securelux team will have access to hand sanitiser & disinfectant soap and have emphasised the importance of regular hand washing.

Team members will not work should they become aware of any flu-like symptoms

Our team members always carry their own hand towels to wipe their hands.

Until the foreseeable future we will ask all team members and customers if they have been overseas prior to our appointment and reschedule appointments if required to eliminate any contact during this time.

Our team are very comfortable with technology and we will prioritise this method of communication & streamline the face-to-face visits where possible during this time.

Our team remain committed to providing high quality installations during this time and continuing our role of protecting customers home from intruders.

We will continue to value your business and provide high quality home security during this time.

If you have any questions or concerns please contact us on the details below.

Kind Regards,

The Securelux Family
